FOREWORD

BY NATIONAL DIRECTOR CHRISTY LIM

In 2024, we reported that the LORD was turning the tides of the decline in long term missions sending; through increased unity in missions sending, actual increase in numbers of long term Partners being sent and the birth of an Intercultural Hub that facilitated regular meaningful engagements with refugees.

2025 was a year of pruning so that the basket vision that the LORD gave Interserve Singapore may be tried and tested to be a sturdy and flexible basket that, together with the wider Body of sending churches and missions organisations, carry the generation of followers of Christ called to incarnational witness of the gospel in hard places, amongst the forcibly displaced and the local beloveds. Through various intense challenges, our staff team experienced a deep spiritual refining that purified our lives, honed our character, and rooted us deeper in Christ, who remains faithful despite all our flaws and failings.

While being tried, the LORD gave us the grace to come closer to the persecuted Church. In collaboration with Open Doors, we championed and hosted a 12-hr Prayerthon to raise prayers for the persecuted Church. In spite of a significant reduction in capable manpower capacity, the staff team rose in courage and faith and pulled off a spectacular creative display of God's faithfulness in hard places through The Woven,* a musical partnership event that will be fondly remembered for a long time. The pure dedication of the whole team of staff and volunteers of about 40 people, giving our 5 loaves and 2 fishes, out of love for Jesus was evident, inspiring one prominent church pastor to create significant space for the persecuted Church to be profiled for prayer in 2026.

As the LORD stitched up the brokenness in us and stitched committed friends of Interserve Singapore into our fellowship, He expanded our capacity to send, prepare and care for His servants in hard places. We are deeply grateful.

MENA Gathering: Peacemakers in Ancient Lands

Attending the MENA Gathering 2025 was a deeply eye-opening experience. While I originally signed up to see how a Messianic Jew and an Arab-Palestinian Israeli would engage with each other, I ultimately walked away with far more insight than I expected.

One of the most profound realisations was how disconnected I had become from the roots of my faith. Christianity began in the Middle East, in the very region where Jesus lived and ministered. Yet, I had unconsciously associated the growth of Christianity with Western missionaries such as Billy Graham and Hudson Taylor, forgetting its ancient heritage in the lands of the Bible.

The history of the region, including the painful legacy of the Crusades, was sobering. Those events, marked by violence and conquest, were not expressions of Christ's love. Today, believers in the Middle East continue to endure tremendous hardship, especially amid ongoing conflicts like the war in Gaza.

Hearing the personal stories of the speakers was deeply moving. Despite facing suffering, discrimination, and even rejection from fellow Christians due to ethnic or political differences, they continue to choose the way of reconciliation because they follow Jesus. Their courage and faith challenged my own understanding of what it means to live as part of the body of Christ.

PEOPLE ENGAGEMENT & COMMUNICATIONS

— MENA Gathering: Peacemakers in Ancient Lands —

In one session, a speaker from Open Doors spoke about Brother Andrew and the founding of the ministry, sharing how persecution should not be seen as something that happens to "others" in the Church. He reminded us that there is only one Church, one body. As 1 Corinthians 12:26 says, "If one part suffers, every part suffers with it." That verse came alive for me in a new way.

I began to reflect on my own context in Singapore—how easily we take for granted the freedom to worship, the comfort of our church buildings, even our preferred seats during service. Meanwhile, there are believers around the world worshiping in the ruins of churches, or in secret, knowing their pastors have been imprisoned or their communities displaced. Many have lost jobs, opportunities, or safety simply for being Christian.

Before attending the MENA Gathering 2025, I had never even heard of some of the countries mentioned. Now, I know they exist, and I am deeply aware of our brothers and sisters there who are standing firm in their faith.

This experience has stirred something in me. While I may not be able to serve on the front line due to my current family commitments, I can pray. I can support. I can learn more and contribute in meaningful ways alongside ministries already at work.

We are One Church. And I want to live in a way that reflects that truth.

Grace, participant at MENA Gathering 2025

Woven: A Night of Stories & Hope

"Let us rejoice and be glad and give Him glory! For the wedding of the Lamb has come, and His bride has made herself ready. Fine linen, bright and clean, was given her to wear." – Revelations 19:7–8

How do you tell the centuries-long story of missions, and the core of the work today, in an interesting, riveting and Scripturally robust way? Through Woven, on 30 Jan, real stories from field workers in hard places, refugees and beloveds work, were brought to life through drama, narration, and music.

As guests arrived, they were greeted by a large painting by Aaron Yap. The artwork featured many people walking on an endless path, signifying a journey of faith. Light breaks through the clouds to reveal a woven basket filled with provision, symbolizing Christ being broken for us and His invitation to come to the table.

While the work of Interserve was the focus of the sharing, we recognise that we are part of a much larger global movement that God is leading. We looked towards the telos of the preparation of the Bride for Christ, and this vision helped set the stage (literally), with a striking centrepiece of a chuppa, the booth where the bride meets the groom, all adorned with flowers of purity: lilies!

From there, we reflect on our history and work, seeing every call, preparation and engagement as a response to God's desire to draw more people to His banqueting table.

Slides of old sepia images reminded us about how Interserve began humbly with two women who saw the denigration of women and their isolation as a call to action.

Testimonies & Stories

Woven: A Night of Stories & Hope

Their work to educate and uplift the women of India was the first thread. More than a century and a half later, this call to respond to suffering reverberates as our work shifted towards the persecuted church and the MENA region.

A reenactment of a real field story pulls out the next thread, about how spiritual hunger can surprise us. This was followed by the rousing A Missionary Anthem conveying the deep, desperate hunger some of our partners grapple with as they lived and witnessed in their contexts. Two youths gave us a beautiful dance to the song, The Jesus Way (Phil Wickham).

In a monologue, we come to grips with how it can take a long time to cultivate relationship and reach a point of sincere interest in spiritual matters. This unfamiliar world came to life as two children read aloud from Lisa Chan's book, The Church in the Arab World.

The final strand of the weave saw a small contingent enter with fruits and candles for a table spread of welcome: we welcome all to the table, and we welcome the prayer and partnership of those who came to share our story and mission.

The night ended with a rousing chorus of worship and a heartfelt closing prayer confessing that the Woven shows us God the Master Weaver who takes our humble selves for His great eternal purposes.

Prayerthon

This National Day was unlike any other for me. Instead of simply joining the usual celebrations, I had the privilege of participating in a Prayerthon, dedicated to interceding for the nations. I attended the morning sessions, where we prayed for countries such as Afghanistan, Laos, Cambodia, Brunei, the UAE, Egypt, Lebanon, Jordan, Yemen, Ethiopia, Israel, Palestine, Cuba, the Democratic Republic of Congo, Mexico, North Korea, China, Burkina Faso, Comoros, Cameroon, Iran, Syria, Turkey, and Nicaragua.

Before coming, I must be honest that I had never even heard of some of these countries, much less understood their struggles or the state of the Church there. I realised how small my prayer world had been. In my usual prayers, I often focus on my own nation, my community, and perhaps a few global headlines I recognise. But here, I was being invited into God's heart for every nation, tribe, and tongue.

As we prayed, I didn't just hear facts and statistics. I heard stories of faith that stirred something deep within me. Testimonies of believers holding fast to Jesus despite persecution, churches gathering in secret, and the gospel quietly, yet powerfully transforming lives. Some places had a spiritual climate that felt heavy, even hostile, and yet the light of Christ still broke through. It reminded me that the Church is not limited to what I see in Singapore; it is alive and persevering in places I may never visit.

Prayerthon

I was struck by how prayer connected me to people I had never met. Even though we were separated by thousands of kilometres, I felt a sense of family, the kind that comes from knowing we are all children of the same Heavenly Father.

The words of Revelation 7:9 came alive: "A great multitude… from every nation, tribe, people, and language, standing before the throne." One day, I will stand alongside these brothers and sisters in worship. But for now, I can stand with them in prayer.

I won't pretend it was easy – the morning was long, and physically I was tired. But the tiredness felt small compared to the encouragement of seeing God stirring His people to pray. Around me were believers of different ages and backgrounds, united in lifting up the nations. It was a glimpse of what it looks like when the body of Christ comes together with one heart.

Walking away, I realised this was not just about one event. It was an invitation to widen my perspective and deepen my prayers beyond what is familiar. I may not be able to change political systems or end wars, but I can stand in the gap through prayer. And I believe God hears.

This Prayerthon was a beautiful reminder: God's heart beats for the nations, and He invites us to share in that heartbeat. Even when I feel small or limited, my prayers joined with those of the global Church, are part of His great story of redemption.

A. Tan, a student awaiting university, with a heart devoted to worship and prayer.

Testimony

The Friendship First (FF) course is helping us reach the Beloveds God has placed around us. It allays our fears about reaching out to them, reminding us that we can always build friendship first.

As a small church of about 30 people, we had historically avoided reaching out to the Beloved community in our neighborhood. However, last year, we decided to launch a holiday English enrichment program for children living in the two rental blocks. We knocked on every door, including those of Beloved families. Praise the Lord, one family responded. We felt they were truly God-sent, arriving right after we completed the FF course and marking the first time we had ever successfully connected with a Beloved family.

By knocking on every door, we discovered that most households with children belonged to the Beloved community. Although many did not sign up for our initial holiday programs, we intentionally used occasions like Mother's Day, National Day, the December holidays, and the first day of school to befriend them with small gifts and warm wishes. Equipped with the FF course, we gained the courage to keep knocking on their doors and consistently building relationships with these Beloved families.

The FF course taught us far more than just how to start a friendship. We learned to distinguish between culture and religion, deepen relationships by finding common ground, and confidently initiate spiritual conversations. Additionally, fellowship with like-minded believers in the course stoked our passion to reach the Beloveds.

We are still at the very beginning of this journey. Moving forward, we must continue walking with the Lord; relying on prayer, His love, and the power of His Holy Spirit.

Learning Trail

The Learning Trail is a 10-month, part-time missions equipping program designed for individuals with a heart for the nations who feel a vocational calling. The program includes fellowship within a mission minded community, booklet and topical studies, retreats, sending community seminars, field mentoring and personal preparation for cross-cultural work.

What Learning Trail Entails:

We are deeply grateful to all the volunteers who worked alongside our staff team to make this program possible. In particular, we want to thank our one-on-one self-awareness mentors, one-on-one field mentors, and discussion facilitators. Without their dedication, running this program would not be possible.

Testimony & Stories

On New Year's Day 2026, I flew home to Singapore from Bangkok, concluding a three-and-a-half-year season packed with new experiences and stories in Thailand.

In late 2021, while COVID-19 travel restrictions between Singapore and Malaysia still prevented me from returning to teach refugees in Malaysia, I sensed God pointing me toward Thailand and Myanmar instead.

So in early 2022, I flew to Bangkok with little definite information, knowing only that I would be teaching English to refugees.

Through connections with ISV Thailand and the Bangkok team of ISV partners, I began teaching English to a small group of Thai children in a large slum community once a week. A few months later, two other opportunities emerged: teaching English to a group of African refugees and tutoring two Thai pastors.

OVERSEAS PEOPLE PREPARATION, CARING & SENDING

Testimony & Stories

This much-reduced teaching load made me uneasy as weeks turned into months, and the assignment finally ended after a year and nine months. It was only a year later that I realized this period was God's precise timetable to prepare me for the assignments ahead.

In early 2024, God wonderfully opened not just one, but two, and eventually three doors for ministry. The first open door led to the launch of a dedicated ministry room within a slum community, where children's English and Thai classes had already begun a few months prior. Having this permanent space allowed us to start a children's Sunday school and host Christmas outreach events.

Over time, our ministry leaders and team members saw growing potential to expand into youth and elderly outreach, and we are now praying for God to send more laborers. God also opened a door for me to teach English to undocumented Myanmar children living within our community. It is incredible to see how He brought Myanmar to me when civil conflict prevented me from entering the country.

During my third year in Bangkok, God revealed that He had led me to Thailand to set a specific task in motion within the slum ministry. However, I did not realize what that was until just two months before returning home to Singapore. During a closing session, my ministry leaders finally pointed out what I had successfully started: securing a rented room to facilitate the ministry, which included launching a Sunday school for the community's children.

This realization highlighted the central lesson of my entire season in Thailand: it is completely about Jesus, and everything unfolds in His perfect time!

Testimony & Stories

Hi, I'm Shanae! Last year, I partnered with Interserve for a five-week mission trip to ElShaddai, an organization serving refugees in Klang.

My journey with Interserve began when my sister and I discovered the agency while looking for short-term mission opportunities. I was drawn to their heart for 'the Beloveds' and their mission to equip and send workers to love and serve the neediest people in Asia and the Arab world. Because interacting with refugees of other backgrounds and beliefs was completely foreign to me, I chose to serve with ElShaddai to better understand the Lord's heart for them.

It was there that the Lord opened my eyes and filled my heart with love for the people. However, loving others brings both shared joys and heartbreaks. Hearing the vulnerable, personal stories of the refugees often left me feeling helpless and lost. Fortunately, God is good; He taught me to surrender my worries into His faithful hands.

I am deeply grateful to the Interserve staff. They supported me every step of the way, from navigating the initial planning hiccups, to checking in during my placement, and finally, guiding my debrief upon returning.

Testimony & Stories

Since childhood, I believed God had a purpose for my life among the nations. However, as silent seasons passed, I began to doubt if this calling was truly from Him, or if it was meant for me at all.

In 2024, amid my wrestling and confusion, God led me to Chiang Mai. There, He powerfully reignited my conviction to go. To actively respond to this rekindled call and better equip myself, in 2025 I joined Learning Trail which is a 10-month preparatory journey for cross-cultural missions.

Learning Trail opened my eyes to realities of field ministry that I had never considered before.

The readings challenged my prior beliefs and desires. They aligned my expectations and hopes with biblical truth and field realities, which are vital for thriving in the long haul.

Sharing life within our close-knit, loving Learning Trail community taught me that alignment is a process God will walk us through. He may not correct us instantly, but He is faithful to finish the work He started in us.

I was deeply refreshed by experiencing the Father's tangible love and embracing my identity as His beloved. Now, I feel challenged to love others like He does in my current ministry—ensuring I am ready whenever and wherever He leads next.

Testimony & Stories

Joining Interserve's Learning Trail was one of the best decisions we have made as a family. It has been a crucial part of our preparation for long-term missions, wherever God may call us.

My husband and I liken it to a "missional kampong"—a space for like-minded people to ask hard questions, intercede for various unreached groups, and inspire one another on this journey of faith.

It was especially meaningful for us to share our pregnancy journey here and be prayed over as a new family of three during the retreats. We want to honour the Interserve staff and mentors, with a special mention to the team for their constant kindness and encouragement.

All glory to God for allowing us to be a part of Learning Trail 2025. We highly recommend this program to anyone discerning or preparing for long-term missions.

FINANCIAL REPORT
JAN - DEC 2025

| | 2025 Total | 2025 Core Ministry Fund (Not Restricted) Operational Use | | 2024 Total | 2024 Core Ministry Fund (Not Restricted) Operational Use |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Income | 1,028,497 | 295,650 | | 1,032,016 | 188,497 |
| Expenses | 965,743 | 232,435 | | 839,392 | 159,574 |
| Nett | 63,204 | 63,215 | | 192,624 | 28,923 |

- Most of Interserve's income is raised directly by local staff and partners to fund their own support. These monies are designated as restricted funds and can only be used by the specific individuals who raised them. The Core Ministry Fund consists of general donations raised by Interserve to cover operational expenses, such as administrative, accounting and member care expenses.

- The 2025 nett amount in our Core Ministry Fund increased compared to 2024, driven by fundraising events like the 2025 Prayerthon. Revenue from the Woven held in January 2026 will be reflected in 2026 financial statements. Additionally, while course and vision trip fee income grew due to higher participation, this revenue was offset by the increased costs of running them, as fees are priced to cover expenses.

- In 2025 we have actively increased fund raising efforts in anticipation to fund expansion of the team capacity in the next few years. The increased capacity will allow us to support a larger number of partners to be deployed globally, particularly in hard places. Consequently we anticipate higher personnel expenses in the coming years to sustain our expanding member care, equipping and sending work.

- Most Core Ministry Fund expenses go toward staff salaries, events, and courses. Because we do not maintain a physical office, we do not incur rental expenses. We appreciate the generosity of churches who have allowed us to use their premises for our meetings.

FINANCIAL REPORT
JAN - DEC 2025

| | 2025 Partner Fund (Restricted) for disbursements to local & overseas partners | 2025 Mission Fund (Restricted) Overseas Ministry Fund | | 2024 Partner Fund (Restricted) for disbursements to local & overseas partners | 2024 Mission Fund (Restricted) Overseas Ministry Fund |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Income | 721,457 | 11,840 | | 818,139 | 25,380 |
| Expenses | 712,579 | 20,729 | | 676,510 | 3,308 |
| Nett | 8,878 | (8,889) | | 141,629 | 22,072 |

- As we send more partners and on trackers to the nations, we expect both inflows to and outflows from the Partner Restricted Fund to show an overall upward trend. However, there may be timing differences in how income is received and reflected on the financial statements. Some partners may raise a significant portion of their first-year budget in cash before they are sent, while others may raise support through pledges, with funds received monthly. As a result of these timing differences, income in 2025 is lower than in 2024, even though expenses are higher.

- From mid-2024 to early 2025, we sent two families and two single workers to West Asia, where the cost of living is generally higher than in Southeast Asia.

- The Mission Fund comprises donations designated by supporters for specific ministries or work in the nations. Although the net movement in 2025 is negative, the fund continues to maintain a healthy balance due to accumulated surpluses from previous years, including 2024.

LOOKING AHEAD

We are woven together for His purposes. However, threats to our unity in Christ exist, and we must actively confront and guard against them. When nations rage against nations, we must stand for truth, justice, and mercy, and walk humbly with our God.

Interserve Singapore is bracing herself for a year of walking more closely with the oppressed and the persecuted Church. She will be shepherding the many people entrusted to her care as they journey out into the nations.

We need your continued friendship, prayers, and partnership. Please pray with us for:

- The raising up of emerging leaders to carry this work forward.
- Grace, wisdom, courage and protection as we champion the oppressed.
- Guidance as we help the Church engage with difficult places through justice, mercy, and humility.
- Greater capacity to prepare, co-send and care for God's servants in these hard places.
- Improved volunteer management and development.

14 But even if you should suffer for righteousness' sake, you will be blessed. Have no fear of them, nor be troubled, 15 but in your hearts honor Christ the Lord as holy, always being prepared to make a defense to anyone who asks you for a reason for the hope that is in you; yet do it with gentleness and respect (1 Peter 3:14-15)
